General Information

Preface

The Office of Institutional Research produced “The Lincoln University Fact Book” which contains factual information about the university. The information is presented in a perspective that continues to highlight the patterns and trends that exist. Historical context is also provided which can be used to review the University’s development and as a reference for the University’s administrators and faculty to use for planning and decision-making.

An electronic version of this publication can be accessed through the University’s home page or directly at <http://www.lincoln.edu/research>. The electronic version allows users to view, download or print the entire book or sections as needed. We highly encourage the use of the electronic version to reduce costs associated with the publication.

Any comments or suggestions for enhancement of this publication are welcomed. Requests for the inclusion of additional information that you feel is pertinent should be forwarded to the Office of Institutional Research.

About The Lincoln University

Profile

John Miller Dickey

The Lincoln University was chartered in April 1854 as Ashmun Institute. As Horace Mann Bond, '23, the eighth president of Lincoln University, so eloquently cites in the opening chapter of his book, Education for Freedom, this was “the first institution found anywhere in the world to provide a higher education in the arts and sciences for male youth of African descent.” The story of The Lincoln University goes back to the early years of the 19th century and to the ancestors of its founder, John Miller Dickey, and his wife, Sarah Emlen Cresson. The Institute was renamed Lincoln University in 1866 after President Abraham Lincoln.

Lincoln is surrounded by the rolling farmlands and wooded hilltops of southern Chester County, Pennsylvania. Its campus is conveniently located on Baltimore Pike, about one mile off US Route 1 – 45 miles southwest of Philadelphia, 15 miles northwest of Newark, Delaware, 25 miles west of Wilmington, Delaware and 55 miles north of Baltimore, Maryland.

Since its inception, Lincoln has attracted an interracial and international enrollment from the surrounding community, region and around the world. The University admitted women students in 1952, and formally associated with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1972 as a state-related, coeducational university. Lincoln currently enrolls approximately 2,000 students.

Located in southern Chester County, Lincoln is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools and offers academic programs in undergraduate study in the arts, sciences as well as graduate programs in human services, reading, education, mathematics and administration. The University is proud of its faculty for the high quality of their teaching, research and service, and of its alumni, among the most notable of whom are: Langston Hughes, '29, world-acclaimed poet; Thurgood Marshall, '30, first African-American Justice of the US Supreme Court; Hildrus A. Poindexter, '24, internationally known authority on tropical diseases; Roscoe Lee Browne, '46, author and widely acclaimed actor of stage and screen; Lawrence (Larry) Neal, '61, one of the most influential scholars, authors and philosophers of The Black Arts Movement; Gil Scott-Heron, a legendary American soul and jazz poet, musician and author, attended Lincoln in the late 1960s; Lillian Fishburne, '71, the first African American female U.S. Navy Rear Admiral; Jacqueline Allen, '74, judge for the Court of Common Pleas, Philadelphia; Philip Banks, '84, New York City Police Chief; Eric Christopher Webb, '91, National Black Authors Tour bestselling author, poet and former SOULS Magazine founder; Fred Thomas, Jr., also '91, actor, director and three-time NAACP award-winning playwright; Comedian Will “Spank” Horton, who attended Lincoln in the late 90s, and Brittney Waters ‘13, professional women’s basketball player for the Ulster Rockets in Ireland.

The Lincoln University has achieved the following national distinction during the past academic year;

- Lincoln is ranked 20th in the nation among the Historical Black Colleges and Universities.

This national distinction is a continuation of The Lincoln University’s tradition of educating an impressive list of African-Americans who have distinguished themselves as doctors, lawyers, educators, businesspersons, theologians and heads of states. Many of Lincoln's international graduates have gone on to become outstanding leaders in their countries, including Nnamdi Azikiwe, ‘30, Nigeria's first president; Kwame Nkrumah, ‘39, first president of Ghana; Rev. James Robinson, ‘35, founder of Crossroads Africa, which served as the model for the Peace Corps; Sibusio Nkomo, Ph.D., ‘81, chairperson, National Policy Institute of South Africa; and Tjama Tjivikua, Ph.D., ‘83, First Rector of the Polytechnic of Namibia in Windhoek.

During the first one hundred years of its existence, Lincoln graduated approximately 20 percent of the African-American physicians and more than 10 percent of the African-American attorneys in the United States. Its alumni have headed over 35 colleges and universities and scores of prominent churches. At least 10 of its alumni have served as United States ambassadors or mission chiefs. Many are federal, state and municipal judges and several have served as mayors or city managers.

The Lincoln University is one of the largest employers in southern Chester County with 221 full and part-time employees. Fifty three (53%) of our employees are Pennsylvania residents. Fifty three percent (53%) of the University’s alumni reside in the state. Thus, an increased relationship with the greater Philadelphia corporate community and other agencies is crucial to the provision of a higher quality of life for the residents of the Commonwealth. This partnership along with our instructional, academic support, retention and technology efforts will provide an education that will make our students more competitive in the global market place.

Lincoln’s Roots

The story of The Lincoln University goes back to the early years of the nineteenth century and to the ancestors of its founder, John Miller Dickey, and his wife, Sarah Emlen Cresson. The maternal grandfather of John Miller Dickey was a marble merchant in Philadelphia who made contributions to the education of African-Americans in that city as early as 1794. Dickey’s father was a minister of the Oxford Presbyterian Church. After serving as a missionary and preaching to the slaves in Georgia, John Miller Dickey became pastor of that same church in Oxford, Pennsylvania, in 1832. Sarah Emlen Cresson inherited a long tradition of service and philanthropy through the Society of Friends in Philadelphia.

John Miller Dickey was active in the American Colonization Society, and in 1851 took part in the court actions leading to the freeing of a young African-American girl who had been abducted from southern Chester County by slave raiders from Maryland. At the same time, having been unsuccessful in his efforts to gain college admission to even the most liberal of schools for a young freedman named James Amos, Dickey himself undertook to prepare the young man for the ministry.

In October 1853, the Presbytery of New Castle approved Dickey's plan for the establishment of "an institution to be called Ashmun Institute, for the scientific, classical and theological education of colored youth of the male sex." On April 29, 1854, the new school received its charter from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In 1866, when the Institute was renamed Lincoln University in honor of the recently slain President, Dickey proposed to expand the college into a full-fledged university and to enroll students of "every clime and complexion." Law, medical, pedagogical and theological schools were planned in addition to the College of Liberal Arts. White students were encouraged to enroll and two graduated in the first baccalaureate class of six men in 1868. The enrollment has continued to be both international and interracial. The University celebrated its 100th anniversary by amending its charter in 1953 to permit the granting of degrees to women.

In 2013, Lincoln University added "The" to its name to formally distinguish itself from the three other Lincoln Universities in the world (Missouri, California and New Zealand) as well as to assert its distinction as "the first Lincoln" and as "the first degree-granting Historically Black College & University (HBCU) in the nation."

Lincoln's Presidents, Principals and Acting Presidents

John Miller Dickey headed the institution from 1854 to 1864. A great schoolmaster, Isaac N. Rendall, became principal of Ashmun Institute in 1865, and president of Lincoln University in 1866. Within a decade, plans for the law, medical and pedagogical schools had to be dropped for financial reasons, but the College of Liberal Arts grew in stature, and the Theological Seminary continued until 1959, preparing many Lincoln graduates for the ministry.

Isaac N. Rendall resigned in 1905, after 40 years of leading an institution that graduated leaders as extraordinary as any American college may claim among its alumni. Isaac Rendall was succeeded by his nephew, John Ballard Rendall, who served as president from 1905 to his death in 1924. William Hallock Johnson, professor of Greek, served as president from 1926 to 1936, and was succeeded by his faculty colleague, Walter Livingstone Wright, 1936 to 1945. Horace Mann Bond, the first alumnus president, and first African-American, served from 1945 to 1957, and was succeeded by two acting presidents, Dr. Armstead O. Grubb, professor of Romance Languages and then by Dr. Donald C. Yelton, University librarian. In the summer of 1961, Dr. Marvin Wachman was appointed president of the University. He served for eight and one-half years and was followed by Dr. Bernard W. Harleston who served as acting president for one-half year.

In July 1970, Dr. Herman R. Branson was elected the tenth president of the University and assumed office November 1. On the retirement of Dr. Branson in the summer of 1985, Dr. Donald L. Mullett became the interim president of the University. Dr. Niara Sudarkasa, the first female president of The Lincoln University, assumed her duties in February 1987 and was formally installed in October of that year; she resigned in December 1998. Dr. Ivory V. Nelson was elected the 12th president of the University and assumed office in 1999. Dr. Nelson served as president for 12 years and retired in December 2011. Upon the retirement of Dr. Nelson, Dr. Robert R. Jennings was elected the thirteenth president of The Lincoln University in December 2011.

Mission

Founded in 1854, The Lincoln University, the nation's first degree-granting Historically Black College & University (HBCU), is committed to maintaining a nurturing and stimulating environment for learning, teaching, research, creative expression and public service for a diverse student body, faculty and workforce. With a myriad of firsts to its credit and a tradition of producing world leaders, the University engages in programs that increase knowledge and global understanding. The University's diverse student body and expert workforce foster a supportive environment for professional and personal growth and mutual respect.

The core values of the institution are SECURE:

- The University prepares its students to use their gifts and resources to advance the well-being of its community and to meet the challenges of a global economy.
- The University considers excellence a standard in its academic, social, technological, economic, environmental, and spiritual pursuits.
- The University cultivates a culture of care and service among its community, which ultimately benefits the world at large.
- The University fosters understanding and mutual respect for the contributions and perspectives of its diverse student body, faculty, staff, alumni, surrounding and global communities.
- The University respects its traditions and reveres its storied legacy.
- The University's identity and its work are guided by integrity and sound ethical values.

Vision

As a global institution, The Lincoln University has an expert workforce that offers progressive and comprehensive programs marked by effective support systems and sound fiscal practices. The University combines the elements of a liberal arts and science-based undergraduate core curriculum with selected graduate programs. The institution is a place where people come willingly to learn, teach, work and visit.

The Lincoln University's faculty provides scholarship, personal development, social responsibility, cultural enrichment and innovation that prepare individuals for careers and leadership positions to enhance the quality of life for all people and meet the challenges of a highly technological and global society.

Philosophy Statements

- The students' highest good is our paramount concern.
- Maintenance of the tenets of Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) is a cornerstone of the educational experience.
- High expectations are the starting point for quality.
- Stewardship of the academic, human, physical and fiscal resources is the cooperative responsibility of everyone.
- Intellectual openness, inquiry and sharing of ideas are important when considering educational quality.
- Instruction should be holistic—connecting subject matter to the world of work—challenging students to utilize all levels of cognition. The Lincoln University is a place of high ethical, moral and academic standard.
- Learning is an active, not passive, process.

University Priorities

1. To produce graduates academically capable of entering a top 50 graduate or professional school.
2. To produce graduates professionally capable of being fast-tracked in their workplace.
3. To be ranked in the top 10 of HBCUs academically, athletically and artistically.

Overarching Themes

1. To embrace an academic culture that improves the University's reputation measured by teaching, research and service, and to embrace an ethic that fosters Graduate School-Ready standards for all Lincoln students.
2. To structure and sustain an environment that provides each student with the best opportunity for their academic, cultural, social, physical, mental and spiritual success.

3. To provide a mechanism to financially support the University's strategic initiatives and ensure the effective delivery of the University's operational support services measured by both professional efficiency and customer service.

Institutional Learning Outcomes

Effective Communication

Operational Definition: Effective communication comprises an ability to speak and write to increase knowledge and understanding or to promote change in a listener or reader.

Outcome: Students will effectively communicate in oral and written form.

Computer and Information Literacy

Operational Definition: The ability to appropriately use technology and know how to identify, locate, evaluate, and effectively and responsibly use and share that information.

Outcome: Students will use technology to identify, locate and effectively use information from various print and digital sources.

Diversity Awareness

Operational Definition: Diversity Competence represents a set of cognitive, affective, and behavioral skills and characteristics that support effective and appropriate interaction in a variety of diverse contexts.

Outcome: Students will understand the differences and commonalities among people.

Social Responsibility and Civic Engagement

Operational Definition: Knowledge, skills, and values that promote and enhance the civic life of a community. It involves participation in activities of personal and public concern that are both individually life enriching and socially beneficial.

Outcome: Students will understand and utilize skills responsible for living as responsible, ethical and contributing citizens of the world.

Critical Thinking and Integrative Learning

Operational Definition: Critical thinking is a comprehensive and systematic exploration of issues, ideas, artifacts, and events before accepting or formulating an opinion or conclusion. Integrative learning is an understanding and a disposition that a student builds across the curriculum and co-curriculum, from making simple connections among ideas and experiences to synthesizing and transferring learning to new, complex situations within and beyond the campus.

Outcome: Students will reason abstractly and think critically to make connections between ideas and experiences and to solve novel problems.

Institutional Fidelity

Operational Definition: Institutional fidelity consists of a characteristic set of attitudes and behaviors that sustains or enhances the legacy of an institution.

Outcome: Students will engage in philanthropic endeavors to benefit the institution.

Financial and Quantitative Literacy

Operational Definition: Financial literacy consists of the knowledge and skills that enable students to become wise and knowledgeable consumers, savers, investors, users of credit, money managers, and functional citizens of a global workforce and economy. Quantitative Literacy (QL) represents the ability to reason and solve quantitative problems from a wide array of authentic contexts and everyday life situations.

Outcome 1: Students will implement and apply financial decision-making skills to become knowledgeable consumers, savers, investors, users of credit, money managers, and citizens.

Outcome 2: Student will be able to create sophisticated arguments supported by quantitative evidence and can clearly communicate those arguments in a variety of formats (using words, tables, graphs, mathematical equations, etc., as appropriate).

Life-Long Learning

Operational Definition: Lifelong learning is an all-purposeful learning activity, undertaken on an ongoing basis with the aim of improving knowledge, skills, and competence. Lincoln University prepares students to be this type of learner by developing specific dispositions and skills while in school.

Outcome: Students will use skills that support life-long learning.

Strategic Goals/Objectives

Goal 1: Recruit and retain students with high potential and strong academic achievements

1. Increase freshman class enrollment by a minimum of 50 students annually from 2013-2018.
2. Increase overall SAT score average of entering freshmen by 12 points annually.
3. Increase high school GPA average by 20 points annually.
4. Add two different states, territories or cities where we recruit annually.
5. Increase transfer students by 15 annually.
6. Increase graduate enrollment by 50 annually.
7. Evaluate all retention measures currently in place, modify where needed and communicate university wide.
8. Require every College and department to develop a retention plan with measureable targets.
9. Establish and maintain a set of comprehensive programs and experiences inclusive of student and academic services.
10. Increase overall retention rate by 3-5% annually.
11. Strengthen recruitment initiatives and develop scholarship opportunities for students from Asia, Africa and Europe.

Goal 2: Enhance, expand and strengthen the University's academic programs and services

1. Increase research grant activity by 5% annually.
2. Increase faculty publications by 2% annually.
3. Increase faculty scholarly presentations by 2% annually.
4. Increase the number of community partners in each College by three annually.
5. Conduct market analysis on programs and services needs within the region and state and develop associated majors, minors and programs or services if feasible.
6. Evaluate and assess academic programs or services for effectiveness and efficiency and make changes when necessary.
7. Secure in-field accreditation for at least one program every other year.
8. Provide a fund to support faculty development.
9. Establish a Teacher Learning Center.
10. Initiate and develop student exchange programs in Asia, Africa and Europe.
11. Increase the number of students studying abroad.

Fact Book Definitions

The purpose of this page is to define the terms used in the Fact Book as employed by The Lincoln University to help the reader use the information in the tables and charts.

1. Academic rank - a job classification for faculty.
2. Academic year - the year beginning August and ending May.
3. Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) - taxonomy for classification of instructional programs.
4. Faculty FTE - faculty credit hours assigned divided by 24 credit hours. Full-time faculty FTE for spring and fall equals 1.00; part-time equals 0.50.
5. Instructional FTE - a calculated number derived by using the actual credit hours taught by a faculty member.
6. Non-instructional FTE - a calculated number derived by subtracting the instructional FTE from 24 credit hours.
7. Student levels - undergraduate, those students enrolled in programs leading to a BA or BS degree; and, graduate, those students enrolled in the graduate programs, which leads to a master's degree.
8. Student status - Full-time students, those undergraduate students who are registered for 12 or more credit hours in a term and those graduate students who are registered 9 or more credit hours in a term; and part-time students, those undergraduate students who are registered for less than 12 credit hours in a term and those graduate students who are registered for less than 9 credit hours in a term.
