It is here that you will embark on one of the greatest journeys of your life and this is the time to show the world of what you are made. We commend you on taking the time to not only look into our university, but to apply and become a part of one of the greatest living and breathing HBCU's this world has to offer.

You are already one step ahead of your peers, in that you have made a conscious decision to make a life-long adventure to educate yourself and those around you. With the knowledge that you will gain in these 4 (four) years, the opportunities to establish friends, and relationships are never ending. These next years are so pivotal into the next stages of your life and with the help of the faculty, staff, student leaders, and your peers...the sky is literally only the beginning.

We currently serve as your Mister and Miss Lincoln University. Santea Ross-Hendrix, a 22 year old native of Arecibo, Puerto Rico, serves as Mister Lincoln University. He is a senior student of Music Performance with aims of achieving a Doctor of Musical Arts degree and returning to Lincoln University as a Professor of Music. Imani Milliones-Roman, a 21 year old native of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, serves as your Miss Lincoln University. She is a senior student of Early Childhood Education with aims of molding the lives of our young to prepare the new world for its everyday struggles. We humbly serve you to the best of our ability and you are welcome to use us as a resource to make your Lincoln experience that much better.

We are so honored to assist you, not only as your King and Queen, but also as friends. You will quickly learn how devoted to family our campus is and how nurturing our sacred soil can be. We officially invite you to the next 4 (four) years of your life. MAKE THEM COUNT! Do all that you're planning to do. Ask for help and always be there to help someone else that may need you as well. Remember to remain humble in all that you do, no matter the magnitude of your great accomplishments. As we know, all Lincoln Lions stand proud when they are faced with adversity. We are so excited to meet you and please know that you are welcome to come to us for absolutely anything. You are now an extension of our family, and we will always protect what is ours.

Again congratulations and remember that whatever you do in life, do it so well that no one living, no one dead, nor anyone yet to be born, can say that they did it any better than you. We are Mister and Miss Lincoln University, where being the FIRST matters. Hail, Hail, Lincoln!

In Orange and Blue Spirit,

Mister and Miss Lincoln University, '15-'16

Santea Ross-Hendrix and Imani Milliones-Roman
